THE NEWS-LEADER

THURSDAY, NOV. 12, 1896.

E. L. DAVISON, JR.

SINCE the election we hear reports from all parts of the country giving indications of a general revival of business and enterprise. Factories are being started, industries are moving ahead, and financial authorities say that confidence is rapidly being restored. Whether this is the result of McKinley's election or is simply due to the fact that all uncertainty as to the future financial policy of this government has been removed, is a question. We are inclined to think that both are responsible. It is the restoration of confidence that has opened factories and caused money to be put out again and to circulate in the channels of commerce. It is the duty of everyone to put aside chagrin or disappointment at the defeat of a cause which he may have championed and help along this revival in business and prosperity. Mr. Bryan in his message of congratulation to Mr. McKinley very clearly expressed the situation when he said: "We have submitted the issue to the American people, and their will is law." The majority of the people selected the instrumentality through which, in their judgment, could be secured the restoration of confidence, the maintenance of the public credit, the active investment of capital and the increased employment of labor, and it is the duty of every good citizen to submit to the will of the people, and encourage and believe in the better times that are in store for us.

The voters of the county did not favor the issue of bonds which to buy turnpikes a little bit. The result of the vote on the question at the election showed a majority of about 1300 against the bond issue. Only 142 votes were registered in favor of the issue. As the matter now stands, the turnpike companies are the losers. Their roads have been made free to the traveling public, irregularly and illegally, it is true, but nevertheless they are free to travel. The object of the proposed bond issue was that the county might reimburse the turnpike companies, the value of their roads thus so forcibly seized as it were, by the people. The voters, however, plainly expressed themselves as being opposed to paying for a privilege which they are already enjoying free of cost, and voted down the bond issue, and thus the matter stands. The turnpike companies have a remedy if they will apply it. They could put in their tollgates again and demand toll for the use of their roads and run the risk of having them torn down again. If the companies refuse to take this step towards protecting their own property, it strikes us as unreasonable that they should expect the county to reimburse them for property seized by parties for whose acts the county cannot be held as responsible.

There is considerable talk in political circles just now over the election of a U. S. Senator from Kentucky, and there is a strong tip out that Gov. Bradley will enter the race. Dr. Hunter, one of the gam shoe fairs, it is said, has no desire to enter the race again, but such is his antagonism to Bradley, it is thought that should the Governor try for the prize that Hunter will oppose him for the sake of other factional fight in the party. Joe Blackburn, with an eye on the governor's chair for himself in the event of Bradley's success, it is said will favor the latter's cause. It is almost certain that an extra session of the legislature will be called by the governor to decide the senatorship.

SEVERAL contests are announced by candidates in Kentucky. Dr. Hunter will probably contest the election of Ehes, and it is announced that the election of Hon. Sam J. Pugh in the Ninth Kentucky Congressional district, will be contested by his sister Democratic opponent, W. Larus Thomas. J. Soule Smith, silver Democrat, has served notice that he will contest the legislative seat of R. P. Stoll, Republican Representative elect from the city of Lexington.

The Hartford Republican says that Ohio county Republicans have much to feel proud of. Although the county has gone a little Popocratic it is still Republican by an increased majority for Hon. John W. Lewis. Fighting against odds as the Ohio county Republicans have been, it makes it the greatest victory that has ever been known in Ohio county politics.

It is thought at Washington that President Cleveland may call an extra session of Congress at any time, and members are holding themselves in readiness to be on hand at the call.

How to Cure Bilious Colic. I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in my stomach caused by biliousness and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people. Mrs. F. Butler, Fairhaven, Conn. Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. For sale by Haydon & Robertson, Druggists.

Fordisordered liver and indigestion a bottle of Nott's Laxative is just the thing. See a bottle. Take no substitute. See advertisement elsewhere.

Mr. N. N. Osburn, well known at Woodstock, Mich., was troubled with a lame back. He was persuaded to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It gave him relief in one night. This remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by Haydon & Robertson, Druggists.

Bandaged forms when the glands of the skin are weakened, and if neglected, hairiness is sure to follow. Hall's Hair Renewer is the best preventive.

The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place, and they handle a great many patent medicines for lung and throat diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling croup medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by Haydon & Robertson, Druggists.

Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve Cures.

The New Hook Spoon Free to All. I read in the Christian Standard that Miss A. M. Fritz, Station A, St. Louis, Mo., would give an elegant plated hook spoon to anyone sending her ten-cent stamps. I sent for one and found it so useful that I showed it to my friends and made it in two hours taking orders for the spoon. The hook spoon is a household necessity, it can not slip into no dish or cooking vessel, being held in its place by a hook on the back. This spoon is something that housekeepers have needed ever since spoons were invented. Anyone can get a sample spoon by sending ten-cent stamps to Miss Fritz; this is a splendid way to make money around home. Werrin, J. S.

What Deteriorates. Professor C. C. Georgeron of the Kansas state experiment station says: That wheat does deteriorate in the course of years under the care that the average farmer gives his crop. I think must be conceded. The yield becomes less, the grain of an inferior quality, and the millers complain that the proportion of bran to flour is too large. From what section it would be most desirable to secure a change of seed cannot be ascertained positively. In our experience here at the station we have as a general thing had the best results from wheat grown in about the same latitude to the eastward of us. The start for our best yielding varieties came from Virginia, Maryland and Ohio. A variety of superior merit, produced only by selection and culture under the most favorable conditions, can maintain its superiority only when grown and selected with the same care which produced it. Our farmers do not give their wheat that care and culture, and the legitimate result is that it runs out. The main cause of deterioration, then, is under the control of the farmer himself.

Shrinkage of Wool. A writer in Farm and Home tells about an experiment undertaken to determine the loss occasioned by shrinkage of wool. The indications from this investigation are that: First, early clipped medium wool, from a well kept flock free from dirt and stored in good quarters, will not shrink in weight to any appreciable extent within a year from date of shearing; second, late clipped wool, of substantially the same kind, will, under the same treatment, shrink about 5 per cent of its original weight within a year. It is probable that heavy, greasy wool will shrink considerably more than this. Wool dealers state that they can never handle this kind of wool in the early part of the season without sustaining a heavy loss in weight. Before deciding to hold wool it is well to take into consideration the kind and condition of the clip and calculate the probable loss from shrinkage.

COMMON SPICES.

Cinnamon is the inner bark of a tree of the laurel family. Cardamom seeds of excellent quality are grown in Germany. The ordinary red pepper has long been used as a medicine. The leaves and even the bark of the nutmeg tree are said to have the fragrance of the seed.

The misce seed plant grows spontaneously in most of the countries around the Mediterranean.

Cinnamon was brought to Greece and Rome before the time of Christ by Arabian merchants.

CORN FODDER.

House and Shredding—In Ohio—In the Pacific States. The housing of corn fodder is largely practiced by the farmers of eastern Ohio who have not been able to employ shredders, and the custom is extending and widening every year. This shorthay crop of last summer compelled the farmers of Ohio to practice the utmost care and economy in handling the corn stover in order to tide their livestock over the winter, and but for this housing of fodder much suffering and loss would inevitably have taken place. This enforced economy has taught farmers the value of corn fodder in such a plain and practical way that a second lesson will scarcely be needed.

In the prairie states the best crop to supplement short meadows is unquestionably corn fodder, and the best way to handle corn fodder is just now a subject of foremost importance. When the services of a shredder can be obtained, undoubtedly the most profitable way to handle fodder is to shred and store it away in barns or sheds. An Ohio correspondent of Prairie Farmer, who believes that an acre of good corn fodder shrank in equal in fold value to two tons of timothy hay, tells the next best disposition to make of fodder where shredders cannot be made available. He advises as follows:

Draw the fodder to the barn immediately after husking and store away for winter consumption. The plan we have adopted is simply to place the bundles in temporary sheds after the corn is husked and at the first favorable opportunity—that is, when the fodder is rather moist, not wet, and the weather dry—draw it immediately to the barn or shed and store it away much as you would store grain. If the fodder is wet it cannot be packed in rows horizontally without molding. Dump fodder should be set upon end in order that the air may circulate through the bundles. If possible, avoid hauling it when dry and crisp, as the loss from breaking will be very serious. If protracted dry weather prevails, the work should be deferred, otherwise the bundles of fodder should be sprinkled with water in the evening and housed early in the morning before the moisture evaporates. This was the plan pursued by many Ohio farmers during the drought of 1894-5. The question may be asked, Does it pay? And I answer enthusiastically, Yes.

Added to the comfort and convenience in feeding the food value of stored corn stover is at least 25 per cent greater than that which has bleached or rotted by months of exposure to wind and weather. If I were obliged to choose between housing timothy hay and fodder, I would quickly decide in favor of the latter. Timothy hay can be successfully stacked and without appreciable loss, but corn fodder must be housed in order to maintain its full value. If an ordinary farm wagon is used to draw the fodder, its capacity may be increased by lengthening the coupling pole and constructing a low rigging or ladder which will carry the fodder. Low wheels will add greatly to the convenience of such a conveyance.

Rhubarb Plants.

Rhubarb plants may so safely set both in fall and spring, but if fall set the crowns should be well covered with earth to prevent heaving and exposure of the roots during winter. For rhubarb, though a very hardy plant, will not endure rapid alterations of freezing and thawing when exposed to the air, and is, therefore, not well adapted for very moist soils in a cold climate. What is true in rhubarb culture is an early, rapid and vigorous leaf growth, with the accompanying large and juicy leaf stalks. Rural New Yorker tells that there is nothing better, than the early application of fermenting horse manure for this purpose.

New Remedy For Chikien Lice.

At the Arkansas station they are using a new mixture for the extermination of lice on fowls and animals. It has been named kerose extract of pyrethrum. One and a half gallons kerosene are soaked through 2 1/2 pounds pyrethrum (persian insect powder), forming a yellow, oily extract. Dissolve a pound of soap in a gallon of the extract and churn till thoroughly emulsified. When using, mix a pint of this emulsion with 4 pints of water. This mixture combines the properties of kerosene and pyrethrum and is cheaper and more convenient than either.

Building Silos.

The essential points in building silos, as summed up in a bulletin on silos issued from the New York station, are: To have the walls tight enough to exclude air from the contents; to have the walls not only strong, but rigid; to have sufficient depth, 30 feet or more, if possible. Then, to have more than about five square feet of feeding surface in the silo for each cow. The larger the silo the cheaper the storage for each ton of silage. The larger the herd the more cheaply can silage be supplied to each animal.

Oats and Ends.

The hay crop over the Pacific slope is reported as one of the largest ever cut. Bear in mind the fact that loan hogs must be furnished to meet a growing demand.

The sixth annual report of the Ohio farmers' institutes shows that 157 regular and 81 independent meetings were held the past winter and spring, and there would have been more if appropriations had allowed.

There were 105 farmers' institutes held in Wisconsin last winter. The advantages of spraying have been so apparent in Utah that the legislature provided for county and state inspection and makes it obligatory upon all fruit growers.

Irrigation will double the production of melon and cucumber vines, if judiciously applied.

Professor Roentgen is the hero of the hour in Germany. Honors are showering upon him in his Wurzburg home, and the university students organized a grand torchlight procession through the town to his home to congratulate the professor on his wonderful discovery.

Sir Douglas Straight, who replaces Henry Cuet as editor of Mr. Astor's Pall Mall Gazette, was called to the bar as long ago as 1805. Afterward he became justice at Allahabad, British India. He returned to London in 1891 with an enviable reputation and a pension.

It charms in One Minute.

I have been in the dairy business all my life and have many times churned for an hour before butter would appear, so when I heard of a churn that would churn in one minute, I concluded to try it. Every day for a week I used it and not only could I churn in one minute but I got more and better butter than with the common churn. This is a very important information to butter makers, the churn works easily and will churn an ordinary churning in less than thirty seconds. I have sold two dozen of these churns in the past month. Every butter maker that has seen me churn in less than a minute bought one. You can obtain all desired information regarding the churn by addressing F. Casey & Co., St. Louis, Mo., and they will give you prompt and courteous attention.

A Chance to Make Money.

I have made $1,040 clear money in 87 days and attended to my household duties besides, and I think this is doing splendid for a woman inexperienced in business. Any one can sell what everyone wants to buy and every family wants a Dish Washer. I don't canvass at all; people come or send for the washer and every washer that goes out sells two or three more as they do the work to perfection. You can wash and dry the dishes in two minutes; I am going to devote my whole time to this business now and I am sure I can clear $5000 a year. My sister and brother have started in the business and are doing splendid. You can get complete instructions and hundreds of testimonials by addressing the Iron City Dish Washer Co., Station A, Pittsburg, Pa., and if you don't make lots of money its your own fault. Mrs. W. H.

MISS MARRS, of Danville, will give an entertainment here at the Court House on Thanksgiving night for the benefit of sweet charity. Miss Marrs will bring her entire class in elocution, including Miss Lou Clark, who won the prize in the Oratorical Contest, given by the Charity Club. Save your nickels and dimes for this occasion, as it promises to be a rare treat.

JOHN NORTHCRAFT, of Marion, who is well known here, shot and perhaps fatally wounded G. E. Land, a neighbor, in a difficulty Tuesday. Land received a gunshot wound in the breast, and it is thought his injuries are fatal, though there is a possibility of his recovery. Northcraft's son and Land's son-in-law joined in the fray, and the former received a slight wound in the hand. The parties are all men of good character. Northcraft's bond was fixed at $500, which was promptly given.

A Dandy Thing to Sell.

I have been doing so well this summer selling combination dippers that I think it is my duty to tell others about it. I have not made as much money as some I read about, but I never make less than $1, and often as a day; the dipper can be used as a fruit jar filler, a plain dipper, a fine strainer, a funnel, a sugar dispenser, a sick room warming pan and a pint measure. These eight different uses make the dipper such a necessary article that it sells at nearly every house, as it is so cheap. You can get a sample as I did by sending eighteen cent stamps to pay postage, etc., to W. H. United & Co., Station A, Pittsburg, Pa., and they will mail you a dipper and you can go to work at once; anyone can make $10 or $15 a day anywhere. A READER.

INFORMATION has been received as to the whereabouts of the music box, and as the ladies of the Charity Club desire to avoid any publicity in the matter, the parties having same will return the property, no questions will be asked.

Bury this Girl Quiet.

I saw in your paper that a thirteen-year-old boy made $1.25 the first hour he worked selling the Perfection Metal Tip Lampwick. I ordered a sample and went to work and the first week I cleared $10 and the second week I cleared $15. I expect to run up to $25 in the near future, as the Perfection Metal Tip Lampwick makes such a beautiful white light and does away with smoky chimneys and bad odor and saves oil. It is easy to sell. If you wish to try it send thirteen cent stamps to Miss Fritz, Station A, St. Louis, Mo., and she will send you sample outfit; this is a good way to make money around home. Miss T. W.

Spring cleaning in the house is important, and to cleanse the human system is even more so. Neat's Laxative tones one up, cleanses and regulates the bowels, liver and kidneys. For sale 50c a bottle by Haydon & Robertson and Waters & Brown.

The following is from the Central Methodist, written from this place: "We are now very pleasantly domiciled in the parsonage in Springfield. When we came to this, our new field of labor, we found the people justly very much in love with their former pastor, Rev. J. L. Murrell, because of his excellence in every trait of a Christian minister and pastor. This is indeed very gratifying to us. It speaks well for any people to show that they appreciate a good man. But still better, this people have shown that they love the Lord more than they love any man, by opening up their homes, pocketbooks and hearts for their new pastor, whom they knew not except as a recommended servant of Christ. We have good congregations. The good people of Springfield and vicinity of the several denominations gave us a delightful prudence in the evening of October 18. The gathering was at the parsonage, and it closed with a prayer of thanksgiving led by the pastor and engaged in by all present. As the pounding came by parts, parties and parcels, we enjoyed it very much, but had it all come at once, it would have been more than we could bear, for it was in great abundance, namely: money, onions, honey, flour, coffee, tea, sugar, potatoes, pumpkins, butter, cup and saucer, vinegar, calico, domestic, table scarf, etc. May the Lord bless the kindly donors. With best wishes for our friend, the Central.

B. F. ATKINSON.

This is the last week of Court. The juries were dismissed yesterday and court will probably adjourn tomorrow. Very little business of importance was transacted. "Dutch" Brown, the colored boy, who stole $36 from a huckster, was the only one sentenced to the Penitentiary. The jury in the case of John Kelley against T. B. Grundy's estate, failed to agree. Mildred A. Shirley sued H. B. Powell, the deputy sheriff, for damages for enforcing a writ of possession. The trial lasted two days and resulted in a verdict for the defendant. The First National Bank sued John Hardesty for $60. The dispute grew out of a question of error in the account of Hardesty with the bank. The verdict was in favor of the bank. The case of John W. Shirley, indicted for forgery, was continued until next term.

This dwelling house of T. J. Ford, who lives near Williamsburg, was burned on Monday night. Loss about $1200; insurance $600.

We are very grateful to the members of Pleasant Run church and other friends who favored us with a good donation of corn and vegetables. B. F. ATKINSON.

WHY MAN IS WEARY.

This is a Typical Tale of Domestic War and Sorrow.

A good many husbands and even thousands of long suffering husbands can bear sorrowful testimony to the fact that this is the sort of cat-and-dog life which their wives subject them to every time they put on their hats to go out in the evenings.

"Where are you going?"

"Oh, I'm going out for a few minutes."

"Where?"

"Oh, nowhere in particular."

"What for?"

"Oh, nothing."

"Why do you go, then?"

"Well, I want to get that 'why'?"

"Do you have to go?"

"I don't know that I do."

"Why do you go, then?"

"Because."

"Because what?"

"Well, simply because."

"Going to be gone long?"

"No."

"How long?"

"I don't know."

"Anybody going with you?"

"No."

"Well, it's strange that you can't be content to stay at home a few minutes. Don't be gone long, will you?"

"No."

"See that you don't."

This is one reason why so many marriages are a dead, flat state and failure.
